Volunteer as a Commissioner

Have you ever thought about serving as a member of the Land Trust Accreditation Commission or do you know someone who you think would be a good commissioner? Serving on the Commission is a great opportunity to work with a dedicated group of volunteer conservation leaders from around the country and be part of a national program that fosters excellence, trust and permanence in land conservation.

If you or someone you know is interested, please look at the commissioner job description. Commissioners volunteer approximately 2-3 days a month reviewing applications and governing the organization. Interested individuals should submit a summary of their qualifications in a commissioner candidate questionnaire online through Survey Monkey. (See an example of the candidate questions).

Commissioners commit to serve a three-year term. If you would like to learn more about service as a commissioner, contact Commission Executive Director Melissa Kalvestrand at 518-587-3143 or mkalvestrand@landtrustaccreditation.org.

“There’s no better way to contribute to the future of land conservation than to serve on the Accreditation Commission. The time investment pays off through an up-to-date understanding of land trusts and the first-hand knowledge that accreditation is leading to ever higher quality. Plus you get to engage with a terrific group of other Commissioners and Commission staff - all experienced, dedicated professionals who really enjoy working together. ”

– Jean Hocker, Land Trust Accreditation Commissioner and president emeritus of the Land Trust Alliance
