

It's that time again; we're collecting feedback on the accreditation Requirements Manual and your input is wanted. Each year we check to make sure the requirements are current and up-to-date with the issues that shape the land trust world. Your input has been important in shaping past editions of the manual.

Here's how it works:

- Collecting feedback is the first part of this review process.
- We then bring your thoughts to the Commission's Requirements Committee.
- The Committee follows specific criteria to guide any revisions to the requirements.
- If changes are suggested, we'll let you know this fall. You'll have a chance to weigh in on the specific changes being considered before they are finalized.
- We would debut an updated Requirements Manual in the spring of 2023.

Feedback closed on June 17.
