Promoting Your Accreditation Media Packet

Congratulations on renewing your accreditation!

Your organization put in the hard work and now it's time to celebrate the good news! Sharing your achievement with your donors, supporters, volunteers, partners, local politicians, and funders is a great way to let your community know that your land trust has been verified to meet the highest national standards in land conservation practices.

Here are four steps your organization can take to announce your renewal (make sure to check your embargo date before releasing any announcement):

1. Make sure the seal is on your website and linked to www.landtrustaccreditation.org. Please use our Seal Style Guide, which shows you how to use our seal on your website. You can find many different file formats of the accreditation seal on our website. If you need assistance or are unsure which file format to use, please reach out to the communications liaison at the Land Trust Accreditation Commission, Lisa McCarthy. Your organization may want to consider adding a section or page to your website explaining what it means to be accredited (see Finger Lakes Land Trust's website for a great example of what this could look like).
2. Post an announcement on your social media channels (see sample social media posts below).
3. Put together a press release (see sample press release below).
4. Write a story about your renewal experience and share it in your digital or print newsletter.
